BIG COSTER GUN DEAL BARED BY HUB MAN

COSTER'S BOSTON AIDE TELLS OF WAR GUN DEAL MADE HERE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—A Boston lawyer swore today he drafted, in a Boston hotel, at the behest of F. Donald Coster-Philip Musica, a contract for the purchase of 100,000 Lee-Enfield rifles by McKesson and Robbins, Inc., and Standard Oil of England.

The lawyer, Frederic Wingersky, made his statement to Assistant Attorney General Ambrose V. McCall, conducting an inquiry into the affairs of the $87,000-000 corporation.

Coster-Musica committed suicide Friday when he was exposed as a notorious swindler of a quarter century ago.

At the same time Brien McMahon, assistant U. S. attorney-general, arriving from Washington, described Coster-Musica as probably "the biggest illicit liquor dealer in the country."

McMahon came here to co-ordinate the investigations of federal agencies interested in ferreting out the mystery behind Coster-Musica and the $18,000,000 shortage in the firm's crude drugs department which he operated.

Emphasis has been placed on the gun-running angle by investigators who have advanced the tentative theory the missing assets might be in the form of unpaid bills for shipments of guns and ammunition.

As the mystery of Coster's gun smuggling activities began to emerge from the shadows revelation also came that McKesson & Robbins for five years rented a one-time arsenal in Canada.

It was an arsenal built in Montreal during the World War expressly for the United States government and from 1931 through 1936 McKesson & Robbins used it, paying $12,000 a year rental.

RIFLES FOR EXPORT

What was stored there was not brought out during today's hearing.

The very fact that the drug firm had use for an arsenal was believed significant, however, in view of the many reports that Coster was actively engaged in shipping contraband to warring nations.

The contract for the rifles, Wingersky said, called for their export to a non-belligerent nation, but so far as he knew the contract was never consummated.

At the offices of the Standard Oil Company here the English company was described as the Anglo-American Oil Company.

McCall, upon hearing Wingersky's statement, ordered him to report to Acting U. S. Attorney Gregory F. Noonan, since this phase of the inquiry into the $87,000,000 corporation, control of which Musica gained after changing his name and hiding his criminal background, was out of the state's jurisdiction.

Wingersky said he was ordered by Coster-Musica to draw up the contract last May.

EARLE C. GORDON DIES

HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 19—Earle C. Gordon, 51, assistant treasurer of Dartmouth College since 1921, was dead here today, victim of a heart attack while talking with a friend.

Here in New England, postal inspectors were probing high pressure sales measures allegedly used to ensnare hundreds of druggists throughout New England. The Intelligence and Alcohol Tax Unit of the Treasury Department swung into activity with inquiries into income tax involvements and alcohol diversion reports.

Among matters under probe was the reported disposition of thousands of gallons of alcohol here in milk trucks for illegal distribution. Two well known bootleggers were sought for questioning concerning alleged associations with Coster.

Lawyer's Story Of Rifle Deal

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—Flat testimony that McKesson & Robbins through its president, F. Donald Coster, ordered a contract for 100,000 rifles drawn up last May in a Boston hotel "in conjunction with Standard Oil of England" was given at an attorney general's hearing today by Frederic Wingersky, Boston lawyer and a vice president of the firm.

"Mr. Coster," said Wingersky, "was in his office at 155 East 44th street. He outlined the proposition, saying the English Company of Standard Oil and McKesson & Robbins were interested in the purchase of Lee-Enfield rifles.

"I told him I would have to ascertain if our firm had the legal right to buy any rifles. I drew up drafts of a contract that I would approve and subsequently I presented it at Mr. Coster's direction to Ben Simon."

FOR 100,000 NEW RIFLES

Wingersky said he had ascertained through a Mr. McGlooin, comptroller of the McKesson & Robbins firm in their Bridgeport, Conn., office that Simon lived in the Bronx and had been on the firm's payroll from time to time.

The lawyer gave McCall a copy of the proposed contract and said he would give another copy to the federal authorities.

Simon, he said, owed the company $2410 on two notes, one for $660 and the other for $1750, dated June 29, 1936. McGlooin, he said, told him he last saw Simon in Bridgeport on the day the application for a receivership was filed there two weeks ago tomorrow.

"What was the amount of the contract?" asked McCall.

"For 100,000 new Lee-Enfield rifles of .30 calibre. The contract called for the arrangement for the export and delivery of the rifles to 'a friendly, non-combatant consignee, whose ambassador will attest to the friendly nature of the consignee.'

"The contract also directed that the 'rifles were to be shipped to a British port designated by us and also that arrangements were to be made for the removal of the rifles from arsenals.'

Wingersky said that was the only instance he knew of connecting McKesson & Robbins' name with any contract for arms.

DENIES KNOWING WOMAN

The assistant attorney-general then asked Wingersky if he knew a "Mrs. Lucas" at 30 Broad street (in the downtown Wall street district), but Wingersky said he did not recall ever having met such a person.

"Did you ever tell her that McKesson and Robbins had authorized you to sell 1,250,000 of these Lee-Enfield rifles?" asked McCall.

"No," said Wingersky.

"Did you ask a Mr. Brooks to sell 1,250,000 of these rifles for McKesson & Robbins?"

"No."

As Wingersky, a vice-president of the firm in charge of law and labor relations, concluded his testimony he showed McCall a slip of paper attached to the contract on which was pencilled under the date of May, 1938: "Okay with changes, if Standard Oil signs. Two letters attached."

Probe Yacht Trips Here

Federal sleuths today shifted several phases of their investigation of the McKesson-Robbins fraud to Boston, with especial scrutiny into activities here last summer of the Carolita, famous yacht of F. Donald Coster, the firm's swindling president.

Treasury Department agents checked for mystery arrivals and sailings from Gloucester of the luxury yacht and contacts at sea which officials now believe were made in connection with gun-running activities.

GUN-RUNNING SUSPECTED
Coast guard authorities reported that the Carolita made Gloucester its base but never proceeded or returned in port. All tradesmen who came to the ship's side were warned away, with the vessel obtaining equipment from some mystery source.

Investigators now believe that Coster, who was Philip Musica in bootlegging days, used his yacht to transfer at sea shipments of "milk of magnesia" consigned to Spanish Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The cargoes now are suspected of being war munitions of all sorts.

SALES HERE PROBED
It was especially significant, Federal investigators stated, that Coster never contacted his Boston office while spending such a large time in this area last summer. Coster, likewise, kept secret his

HIPS, HIPS, AWAY! by Carol Frink

PEDALING away on bike that never moves, Carol Frink, writer, lives the agony of taking off weight. "I pedaled furiously on a vehicle that never left the terminal. Every day a mile was added to your handicap," she writes. Shown chat-

Takes Will To Be Slim

Carol Frink lost 30 pounds in five weeks by following the Johns Hopkins Hospital's system of reducing. Yesterday she told why she reduced; today she begins to tell how it was done.

CHAPTER I

There must be a million ways, more or less, to lose weight. I think, in my time, I have tried most of them. With some of them I had a slight measure of success. But the results were never wholly satisfactory or lasting.

I fell for the 18-day Hollywood diet while it was in vogue and actually lost the promised number of pounds in the specified time. But I also lost a number of friends who couldn't stand my nerves and temper.

Moreover, I gained it all back in less time than it takes to say Louella O. Parsons. And to this day the sight of a grapefruit once my favorite eye-opener, brings a bead of perspiration to my brow.

Another time I trustingly relinquished the good, round sum of $75 for a month's treatments in a classy reducing salon.

All I got for my money was a few nasty side remarks about my shape and the doubtful satisfaction of being referred to always as "Moddom."

I recall that the treatment consisted of putting Moddom, naked as a peeled eel, on a bicycle within a cabinet from which only Moddom's unhappy head protruded.

PEDALED LIKE FURY

Then the steam was turned on and Moddom pedaled furiously on a vehicle that never left the terminal. All the while puffing victim's eyes were glued on a meter that registered the mileage gained.

Every day a mile was added to your handicap until, toward the end of the month, you were making as much distance as Egg and Berry in their top form.

It was a lot of good, clean sadistic fun for the proprietress of the salon—herself a human roller-coaster of curves and sudden dips—but of no appreciable advantage to the clients who paid through the pores.

Another time I listened with opened mouth to an enthusiastic medico who told me of an amazing new discovery for taking off weight

Report 34 Dead In Wreck Near Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 19 (AP)—A collision of an express and a freight train about 70 miles north of Rio de Janeiro today took a heavy toll in dead and injured. First reports said 34 were killed and 60 injured.

7-10-Year Term Given Whalen

Patrolman Milton J. Whalen of Winthrop police was sentenced today in superior court to seven to 10 years in state prison on a charge of assault and battery with intent to rape on a young Winthrop matron.

The attack upon which the policeman was convicted by a jury last week was on Mrs. Emma O'Halloran, 28, wife of a Deer Island guard.

"The women of this Commonwealth must be protected," asserted Judge William C. Giles in passing the sentence.

Defense attempts to show that Mrs. O'Halloran had been drinking failed to impress him, the judge said, and he did not think she was drinking the night of the assault.

According to her charge, and to testimony at the trial, Whalen was taking her home from a housewarming party in Winthrop.

In the car, she charged, he made improper advances to her, and when she broke away and ran he pursued and dragged her back, finally drawing his service revolver and threatening to shoot her.

After the patrolman dragged her back to the car, she charged, he drove to Cottage Hill and made more advances, despite her plea that she had a weak heart.

Then a man came along, she said, and she fled to her home.

Whalen denied her story on the stand and claimed Mrs. O'Halloran had been drinking at the party and was "feeling pretty good."

Pays $100 Birth Control Fine

Closing a case that began 18 months ago, Dr. Ilia Galeani of Beacon street, Back Bay, pleaded guilty today in superior court at Dedham, and paid a fine of $100 on a charge of unlawfully selling contraceptives.

In court as a spectator was Mrs. Walter E. Campbell, former chairman of the Brookline Mothers' Health Office, who paid a similar fine in Brookline court when Dr. Galeani appealed.

After today's court disposition Mrs. Campbell issued the following statement:

"Birth control information and advice along the line dispensed by the Brookline Mothers' Health Office has received the sanction of the federal government and the federal courts.

"We feel sure that the situation will not be tolerated for long by the thinking men and women of our state."

KENNEDY IN FLORIDA

PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, arrived with his son, Jack, for the Christmas holidays and a vacation here. He planned to return to London after six weeks here.

Mortgage Paid, Church Burns

FAIRMOUNT, Ind., Dec. 19 (AP)—The congregation of the Wesleyan Methodist church was assembling for a service at which a paid-off mortgage on the church building was to be burned.

Shortly before the service, fire started from a defective flue. The roof of the brick structure was burned away and much of the interior ruined.

Church officials estimated the damage at $3000. Today they feared repairs might necessitate a new mortgage.

Suicide Pact Failing, Couple Fights for Life

Miss Anna Stempley, 24, who has been boarding in Hichborn street, Revere, and Joseph Price of Beach street, also Revere, were in critical condition at Massachusetts General Hospital today after both had allegedly taken poison.

The poison, in the form of pills, taken in the parlor of the girls' lodging house, followed parental objection to the couple's planned marriage, according to police.

Miss Stempley, police said, started to shriek when Price's throat began to burn and he began to gasp for breath.

Mrs. William J. Murray, the boarding house owner, administered milk to the suffering youth while the girl summoned Dr. Angelo Luongo.

It was not until they started to take him off to the hospital that the physician discovered she, too, had poison symptoms.

Doctors said they suffered throat burnings and stomach pains.

$300,000 Blaze In Augusta Mill

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 10 (AP)—A general alarm fire of undetermined origin swept the sulphite storage plant and offices of the Kennebec Pulp and Paper Company today. Loss was estimated unofficially at $300,000.

The fire started in the three-story wooden storage section and quickly consumed the wooden office building of the $1,000,000 plant.

Fire departments from Hallowell and Gardiner helped combat the flames which burned for four hours.

The destroyed portion of the plant housed a tissue towel manufacturing concern.

TORCH BLAST INJURES 2

Thomas Adamakis, 31, and his stepson, George Kaufas, 8, of Hichborn street, Brighton, were in a serious condition today as the result of a gas blowtorch explosion.

PHYLLIS DINEEN

Heroine Modest In Triple Rescue

Two youngsters and a 75-year-old man today owed their lives to 16-year-old Phyllis Dineen, heroine of a fire which swept the home of her foster parents on New Haven street, West Roxbury.

After her valorous action, the slender young girl secreted herself at the home of friends, striving modestly but vainly to hide her identity from firemen and police.

The girl was getting breakfast in the kitchen of her home for William McCauley, 5, and Ralph Crowley, 4, when flames burst through the kitchen door.

Mrs. Catherine Sneed, 72, the girl's foster mother, was aided to safety through a window, while Phyllis then began a battle to push the two children through a smoke-filled hallway to the open air.

When she succeeded, the girl remembered her foster father, George Sneed, 78, a paralysis victim. Although scared by flames, she ran back into the house and was able to bring him out.

The elderly man was held for treatment at City Hospital.

Autos Kill 3 As Goodwin Urges Caution

Three pedestrians were dead, victims of automobiles today, even as Automobile Registrar Goodwin voiced a plea for reduced speed and careful driving during the holiday traffic crush.

A total of more were injured in a series of mishaps.

Joseph J. Tello, 65, of Derby street, Somerville, was struck and fatally hurt as he was crossing the Fellway in Somerville. John S. Messina of Kingston, R. I., was held on a technical charge.

NAVY MAN IN CRASH

As a result of another accident in Cambridge, Lieut. Paul W. Hanlin, 31, Annapolis graduate and an officer at the Charlestown Navy Yard, was held by police.

Police charge his car struck and killed John Papalocca, 52, of Hampshire st., Cambridge, as the latter was crossing Broadway at Windsor st.

A nurse from the Naval hospital, who was with the lieutenant, was not held.

The third victim was Samuel Bashner, 60, of Blue Hill avenue, Mattapan, struck by a car driven, police said, by Richard Blanchard, 1vers street, Beverly.

Patrolman James Ford, 34, of the Sterling police department, suffered loss of a leg in an accident in which Robert Shaw, 30, of Shrewsbury, was also hurt.

MANY ARE INJURED

Two men, one a Harvard student, were injured at Southbridge in an auto crash. Paul Scheip, 22, of St. Louis, the Harvard man, suffered internal injuries, while Raymond MacDonald, 42, of Manchester, N. H., was hurt about the head and legs.

Mrs. Florence Keller, 48, Fayette street, Lynn, suffered a broken back when two cars collided on the Concord turnpike, East Arlington.

Eight others were injured in the same crash.

Seek 'Seabury' Inquiry Here

Representative Charles W. Hedges of Quincy, a Republican, filed a resolution today demanding appointment of a legislative committee comparable in its breadth of powers to the type of inquiry conducted by Samuel Seabury in New York.

The Seabury probe ousted Mayor James J. Walker, scuttled Tammany politicians, and cleared the way for the far-reaching activities of State's Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who rode to national prominence on his clean-up campaign.

The Hedges proposal is even broader in implication and potential practice.

GIVEN JAILING POWER

It proposes the setting up of a commission at two senators and three members of the House to investigate law-enforcement in every particular throughout the state.

This commission, under the enabling legislation, now known as House Bill No. 1418, would have the power to subpoena witnesses, subpoena books and records, conduct public and private hearings in virtually any state activity in to which it might seek to inquire.

The bill provides for penalties comparable to those of a court of law for recalcitrant witnesses, starting with a minimum contempt penalty of not less than 30 days in jail, with no maximum.

It would have the power to appoint, counsel, and commenting on the bill today, Representative Hedges suggested Attorney George B. Farnum or "someone of equal caliber" for the post.

CITES 2 INSTANCES

Commenting further, Representative Hedges asserted:

"In the past few weeks we have witnessed the Governor act in such a manner as to lead any citizen to think that common decency in public office has ceased to exist."

He further cited the present investigation into expenditures of the $19,700,000 storm relief money as an added reason for the commission.

"The attorney-general has plenty to do now," he said, "Private agencies haven't got the money, and the public should have the truth."

The bill was said to have the co-sponsorship of Enrico Cappelletti of East Boston, a Democrat, although his name did not appear on it as filed. That he is interested was indicated, however, by his comments, similar to those of Representative Hedges.

The bill is similar to one filed by Representative Hedges last year.

Quiz Forgrave On Books and $20,000 Check

He is "no bookkeeper" and wouldn't know "one ledger from another," William M. Forgrave testified under cross-examination in Suffolk Superior court today.

And when Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur B. Sullivan asked how Forgrave met Mlle. Marie Mazure, black-eyed French tulleuse of Newbury street, Back Bay, who had said Forgrave won her "heart and fortune," counsel for H. Henry Anthony, promptly objected and was upheld. So Forgrave didn't answer that.

Forgrave and Anthony, former partners in Brown Anthony Company, are on trial on 26 counts of larceny in connection with the collapse of the firm in June, 1932.

Forgrave and Anthony last week were acquitted on charges of conspiracy that grew out of Mlle. Mazure's story that Forgrave, one-time prohibition crusader, had won her heart and her $7500 simultaneously.

A second woman's name entered the testimony when Forgrave said he "didn't think" a check given by Mrs. Marguerite A. R. Holmes of Reading for $20,000 had appeared in his account.

Mrs. Holmes testified she gave $26,000 worth of securities to the firm, received a check for $20,000 which she endorsed back to them, and took a promissory note.

"It's been testified you gave 30 seconds to arranging that woman's business that involved her $26,000," Atty. Sullivan said. "Do you think that was fair?"

Forgrave said he understood the arrangements had been made in advance.

"Was that a rubber check you gave, Mrs. Holmes?" Sullivan asked.

"Not to my knowledge," Forgrave replied.

'Son Jim' Here, Tabooes Politics

Divorced from politics, and wedded to a lifetime job in the movies.

That's the future of "Jimmy" Roosevelt, and the authority is none other than he, himself, in person, here today to see that his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, is duly installed as a director of Roosevelt and Sargent, Inc., his Boston insurance company.

And there's only one exception in his five-year contract with Movie Producer Samuel Goldwyn and that is that he shall be free to serve his father if ever he calls upon him.

AIDED BY KENNEDY

Exuberant over his new work and in fine fettle after his clean bill of health from the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he was operated upon for stomach ulcers sometime ago, Jimmy spent the day here going over his affairs at the Roosevelt and Sargent office, and at the home of John A. Sargent, his father.

He revealed incidentally, that contact between him and Goldwyn leading to his new contract was established through Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and resulted in part from his interest in the motion picture business, engendered as a trustee for the Metropolitan Theater here.

He takes up his new position on January 22 in the distribution and sales department; and next year expects to go abroad for his new employer.

MOTHER ON BOARD

This may be in connection with the affairs of United Artists, through which Goldwyn films are released, and Korda productions, also a United Artists member, by which Alexander Korda makes pictures in England. Quota restrictions in England provide that American producers must either make a percentage of their pictures there, or buy British made films for American showing.

Mrs. Roosevelt is a member of the board and the Roosevelt &

Sargent Company, will represent him, he said, in matters of standing accounts, accounts to be collected, investment of funds and general policy.

Meetings are quarterly, and she will share membership with Mr. Sargent, his wife, Katherine Sargent, Roosevelt's wife, Betsey Cushman, Roosevelt, Edward M. Gallagher, Jr., and Arthur Anderson.

The last two members of the firm, Jimmy said further that he would continue to maintain his residence on his Massachusetts farm, and that he will also continue to be a lieutenant-colonel of Marines.

Pope Scorns Doctor's Order

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 19 (INS)—Over the objections of his personal physician, Pope Pius today won permission to officiate tomorrow at the inauguration of a new Holy Year, thus disposing of a Reuter's agency report in London that he had suffered an alarming new heart attack.

Auditor Wood Names 3 Aides

George H. Cummings, second deputy state auditor, will be retained when Russell A. Wood, elected last month, takes office in January, it was revealed today when Wood announced his deputies.

The new auditor's first deputy will be Hector E. Cormier of Brockton, who was chairman of the Franco-American Division at Republican headquarters during the campaign, and who now is in the accounting division of the First National Bank.

Cormier's appointment means that John Harrington, first deputy under the outgoing state auditor, Thomas H. Buckley will be automatically dropped.

As third deputy, Wood named William Turtle of Brookline, son of the late Senator William Turtle of Pittsfield, for 12 years an auditor and tax assessor in the United States Internal Revenue Department.

Buckley went along with but two deputies during his administration, but Wood will have three.

The pontiff will set in motion the new year of prayer and devotion with a benediction in St. Peter's Church tomorrow.

He also will celebrate a special mass tomorrow at the Cathedral of St. John Lateran on the occasion of beginning the 50th year of his priesthood.

SPOKE 50 MINUTES

Anxiety over the health of the 81-year-old pontiff had been felt because of his exertion in speaking 50 minutes at the opening of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences yesterday.

Although the report of a new heart attack was denied, it was admitted by high Vatican authorities that the Pope was so exhausted his physician, Dr. Amintore Milani, felt it advisable to sleep in the same chamber with him last night.

This morning, when Pope Pius spoke of tomorrow's ceremonies, Dr. Milani remonstrated with him urging him not to overtax himself. Insisting he was "perfectly all right," the Pope asked Dr. Milani to summon Monsignor Bianchi, a specialist, to verify his own judgment.

MUST REST ALL DAY

Bianchi, after an examination, agreed to permit Pope Pius to participate in tomorrow's services, which will include 12 private audiences, on one express provision, that the Pontiff rest completely for the balance of today, receiving no one.

Elated by his own display of energy and his "victory" over Milani, Pope Pius readily agreed and cancelled several private audiences this morning. He insisted, however, on seeing Father Gemelli, one of his oldest and closest friends, who leaves for Milan tomorrow. The Pontiff rose shortly after noon and sat in the specially constructed chair which permits him to breathe more easily. Bianchi, it was stated authoritatively, found the Pope in "excellent spirits."

De Celles' Wife And Man Fined Following Raid

After testimony had been given in whispers at the judge's bench, Mrs. Marie B. DeCelles, wife of former Insurance Commissioner Francis J. DeCelles, and Clifford M. Atwood of Everett were found guilty of a statutory charge today in Lowell court.

Judge Haven G. Hill fined the 31-year-old Belmont matron $10, but assessed a $50 fine against Atwood, 30-year-old filling station attendant, allowing him three months in which to pay.

The woman's fine was paid by Atwood, but nothing was paid on his own fine.

Testimony regarding a raid on a Billerica apartment house at 3 a. m. December 11, and the arrest of the couple, was given at the bench in an undertone, at the request of Defense Attorney Joseph Sax of Boston.

Officer John F. Trainor of Belmont police, one of the pre-dawn raiders, said, however, he told Judge Hill that when police burst in on Mrs. De Celles and Atwood they were both unclad.

Neither of the defendants testified, nor did Inspector Edward Glennon, attached to the Middlesex county district attorneys' office, who was one of the raiders. De Celles was not in court.

$40,000 Blaze In Fitchburg

FITCHBURG, Dec. 19—A general alarm fire swept the Clock block here today with estimated damage of $40,000 and for a time threatened the Main street business district.

Two firemen were injured as every fire-fighter in the city battled the blaze for three hours from adjoining rooftops before its spread was halted.

The injured were Edward Cronson, who was treated for a wound in the foot at Burbank Hospital, and Marjorie Nikatka, a sufferer from smoke inhalation.

Patrolman Erich Schrieber discovered flames shooting from the J. A. Hille & Son confectionary store on the first floor. Fire Chief Michael J. Shea sounded a general alarm as the flames swept through the two floors of the wooden block.

Other establishments damaged were the Boston Shoe Repairing Company and Metcalf's optician's shop, on the first floor, and second floor offices of John B. Hayes and Harold Rome, lawyers, and the real estate office of Harry L. Cook, owner of the building.

Heavy water and smoke damage was suffered in Brockelman's market in an adjoining block.

Plea to Hitler by Chamberlain

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 19.—An indirect plea to Adolf Hitler to make some definite "contribution toward peace" was voiced by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons today.

Replying to a motion of censure introduced by Hugh Dalton, Laborite, who charged that Chamberlain's "peace of Munich" had brought Britain to "its most dire peril since the World War," the prime minister stressed Anglo-American friendship and then added:

"Our relations with Germany as I like to see them were set forth in the Munich declaration (in which Britain and Germany pledged themselves never again to resort to force in settlement of differences).

STILL WAITING SIGN

"It is not enough to express that desire, since it takes two to make an agreement as it takes two to make a war.

"I am still awaiting a sign that those who speak for the German people share this desire and are prepared to make their contribution to peace which would help them as much as help us.

"There is no spirit of vindictiveness against Germany. England has no desire to hamper her development or cramp her tremendous vitality as a nation."

Some observers read in Chamberlain's remarks a definite indication that even he now has become somewhat disappointed over what he in September ecstatically described as "peace for our time."

CHAMBERLAIN ENRAGED

Introduction of the censure motion and Chamberlain's lengthy, carefully prepared rebuttal was the signal for a riotous demonstration in the House.

The prime minister frequently was interrupted by members attacking his veracity. On one occasion, he appealed to the speaker of the House against such aspersions and on another lost entirely his customary parliamentary calm. Turning for a riotous demonstration in the House.

"Why don't you exercise self-control?"

The motion, calling upon Commons to vote non-confidence in the government's foreign policies, was presented on this occasion by Hugh Dalton, scholarly, university-bred member from Durham.

"This," he said, "is a motion of non-confidence against the Premier personally, since he has taken a predominant part in His Majesty's government's foreign policy."

CIO Group Loses Plea in Maine

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court denied today a rehearing to nine persons convicted under a Maine statute which makes it unlawful to conspire to injure property or business.

The litigation arose from a strike of employees in 17 shoe factories in Lewiston and Auburn.

The convicted persons, members of a CIO affiliate, admitted the business of a shoe firm was injured by a strike, but they contended the law under which they were tried and convicted was unconstitutional.

BRIDE of the commander of the U. S. Liner Washington, Mrs. Giles C. Stedman is shown in New York home shortly after her marriage was learned. She is widow of Col. Jacob Schick, razor magnate, of Montreal.

'Ready to Fight If Attacked,' Bonnet Warns

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Bonnet told the Chamber of Deputies today that "in case of unprovoked aggression all the forces of France—on land, sea and in the air—spontaneously and immediately would be utilized for the defense of Great Britain."

During a brief review of foreign affairs Bonnet made plain that France, at the same time, expects Britain to do likewise for her.

"The foundation of our diplomatic action remains the Franco-British entente," he said. "If one of the two nations should be the object of unprovoked aggression, the other certainly would not hesitate to come to her aid."

"How could it be otherwise when it is a question of two nations like France and Britain whose relations, following the expression of Chamberlain, 'are so close they surpass simple judicial obligations because they are founded on an identity of interests'."

A French "no surrender" bloc organized today to fight what is feared was a British-French plan to turn over part or all of British and French Somaliland to Premier Mussolini.

The bloc unites strange bedfellows—Communists, Royalists and Independent Centrists—in opposition to cession of any East African colonies to Italy.

Members of the group warned that Prime Minister Chamberlain would go to Rome with such an offer in his pocket when he visits Mussolini, Jan. 11-14.

Dolan, Quinn Pardons Near

Christmas pardons for Edmund L. Dolan, J. Walter Quinn and Robert F. Dinamore are expected at tomorrow's meeting of the governor and his council.

It also was anticipated that a number of men who have served long terms in State Prison will receive Christmas paroles. Dolan, former city treasurer; Quinn, his one-time business partner, and Dinamore, former state representative, are each serving two and a half years in Charles street jail for contempt of court.

THIN ICE FATAL TO 5

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (INS)—Five skaters and other winter sports enthusiasts were dead today after plunging through thin ice on lakes and rivers in the Chicago area.

Warns of Yule Fire Dangers

"Keep your fires friendly," Fire Commissioner William Arthur Reilly said today in issuing his annual warning about danger of Christmas fires.

"Friendly" fires, he explained, are fires where they belong—in stoves and on the ends of candles. He warned against:

- Unguarded use of candles; Christmas trees too near fireplaces; use of cheap electric ornaments; smoking near the fire; allowing children too near the stove, or giving toys that require gas or alcohol to run.

Hungary Cuts Jews' Rights In New Bill

BUDAPEST, Dec. 19 (AP)—New restrictions on Hungary's Jews, possibly including limiting their voting rights, were in prospect today as the cabinet gave final touches to a bill for the control of Jews to be introduced in parliament Friday.

This coincided with arrival of Count Ciano, Italian foreign minister, who came, the Budapest press said, to give Hungary the benefit of "Fascist experience" in dealing with the Jewish and other domestic problems.

(Italy is carrying out a restrictive program against Jews.)

It was said that restrictions to be proposed would be far more sweeping than Hungary's present legislation concerning Jews, which limits their participation in business and the professions to 20 per cent of the total engaged in any calling.

It was indicated a limit of 6 per cent would be set.

There were 444,567 Jews in Hungary in 1933, according to the American Jewish Committee.

Rumania Maps Removal Of 150,000 Jews

BUCHAREST, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Rumanian foreign office left it be known today that the removal of 150,000 Rumanian Jews to Palestine and certain British colonies was envisaged in diplomatic negotiations now in progress with Great Britain.

A plan was disclosed which contemplates settlement of 50,000 Rumanian Jews annually in the Holy Land and British possessions.

(Rumania's Jewish population in 1933 was 584,213, according to the American Jewish Committee.)

The Ministry of the Interior announced that 376 Jews and 766 retail tobacco shops operated by Jews in northeast Rumania had been nationalized.

Russian Throne Pretender Hailed

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Grand Duke Vladimir, pretender to the throne of Russia, left by automobile today to spend the Christmas holidays near Munich with his sister, Grand Duchess Marie, wife of Prince Charles of Leiningen.

On the eve of his departure almost 5000 former aristocrats, officers and soldiers of imperial Russia, the White Russian colony of Paris, gathered for a ceremony proclaiming Vladimir rightful claimant to the throne.

Swiss Seize Many In Spy Roundup

GENEVA, Dec. 19 (AP)—An undetermined number of persons were arrested last night in a roundup which was officially described today as directed against espionage in Switzerland.

Police said that the majority of the arrests occurred at Mollinex, a town on the French frontier, but declined to disclose any identities.

Japs Center Drive On Guerrilla Bands

SHANGHAI, Dec. 19 (AP)—Marking a turning point in Japan's invasion of China, Japanese punitive expeditions today are beginning a widespread attempt to clean up guerrilla bands infesting already occupied regions instead of extending the lines of the Japanese conquest.

Their aim is to smash guerrilla bases and disperse bands of hit-and-run fighters, now estimated to total 300,000 roving the Yangtze river valley.

Ford, 'Lindy' Get Ickes' Lashing For Nazi Medals

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP).—Henry Ford and Charles A. Lindbergh and other Americans who accepted Nazi medals were today being lashed by the United States government. The government is angry at the acceptance of the medals.

"How can any American who calls himself a Christian or who pretends to believe in the enlightened principles that constitute the warp and woof of our American life, accept a decoration at the hand of a brutal dictator who, with that same hand, is robbing and torturing thousands of fellow human beings?"

"Perhaps Henry Ford and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will be willing to answer the question. Nor are these the only two free citizens of a free country who obsequiously have accepted tokens of contemptuous distinction at a time when the backbone of the country is bent under the weight of a world-wide crime against humanity."

My acceptance of a medal from the German people does not, as some people seem to think, involve any sympathy on my part with Nazism. Those who have known me for many years will realize that anything that breeds hate is repulsive to me."

Friends Rally To 'Office Wife' In Murder Trial

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Dec. 18 (INS).—Despite her admitted lapse from the moral code and her trial for the murder of the man she served as "office wife," Mrs. Fern Patricia Dull still has friends in her home town.

And today her friends will parade to the witness stand to testify in her behalf. Some as character witnesses and others to tell of her tempestuous life with William Holbrook from the time he left his wife and family in 1930 until Mrs. Dull shot and killed him in front of the Benton Harbor police station last October 17.

Principal witnesses were expected to be Mrs. Helen Caldwell, stout, jolly, gray-haired intimate of the willowy, silvery blonde defendant, and Gloria Glee Dull, 19-year-old daughter of the defendant by her divorced husband.

Gloria and her brother, Lester, 17, have been constant courtroom attendants since the trial began as have Mrs. Dull's mother and two of her sisters.

Meanwhile, friends of the victim, E. A. Weston, have been expected to plan to appear in the courtroom to testify that he was a respectable man.

The Weston family, however, has been expected to appear in the courtroom to testify that he was a respectable man.

Dr. Weston, who was a prominent physician in the community, was expected to testify that he was a respectable man.

Hat Sole Clue In Attack Case

With a hat as their sole clue, police of the city of Boston are trying to solve the case of a woman who assaulted Mrs. H. H. H. on the 21st of September.

Mrs. H. H. H. was a woman who was a prominent figure in the community. She was a woman who was a prominent figure in the community.

Child Poison Victim 'Rests Comfortably'

John Courtney, 2, of Templeton street, Boston, who was the victim of a poisoning, is now resting comfortably.

Nazi Hate Real Peril Here, Dies Warns America

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (INS).—Declaring Adolf Hitler as a "Treasonist," the Chicago Tribune and four other newspapers today issued a joint editorial warning America that the Nazi movement in Germany is a real peril to the world.

"Hitler is never satisfied with war, for only in war and the contemplation of chaos and havoc of floods of blood can he find temporary surcease from the pangs of a guilty conscience," the fiery Tribune declared.

American Jews warned that Hitler is the enemy of the Jew, and that the Jew is the enemy of the Christian, and that the Christian is the enemy of the Jew.

Hitler is a man who is not only a Jew-hater, but also a Christian-hater, and a man who is not only a Jew-hater, but also a Christian-hater.

Hitler is a man who is not only a Jew-hater, but also a Christian-hater, and a man who is not only a Jew-hater, but also a Christian-hater.

"I have before me unimpeachable evidence that the same campaign of hatred, which paved the way for the ascension of Hitler in Germany, is vigorously under way in America. Many individuals and organizations are preaching and spreading the Hitler doctrine of religious and racial hatred."

"Tons of printed matter that carry the deadly germs of Hitlerism are being disseminated through this country. We are being invaded by Nazi ideologies and we do not seem to realize it. This campaign is beginning to produce concrete results in many sections of the country."

American Jews declared that Hitler is the enemy of the Jew, and that the Jew is the enemy of the Christian, and that the Christian is the enemy of the Jew.

"What has happened in Germany may happen in the United States because the two requisites for Nazism already exist to a limited degree in this country, namely, hate and fear."

"If we do not want a Hitler in America then we must prevent the occurrences which paved the way for Hitler. If we do not want the effect, we must prevent the cause."

Another Sheikh Slain by Arabs

BEIRUT, Dec. 15 (INS).—A second Arab leader was slain today in the city of Beirut, according to reports from the city. The slain leader was a prominent figure in the Arab community.

virtually every big name in the nation's underworld."

"There also seems to be some indication of illegal dealing in arms," McMahon said, "and the violations are probably not confined to the jurisdiction of New York. There is apparent violation also of several other laws."

McMahon said the conference scheduled to meet this afternoon in the federal building, would discuss possible violations of the income tax laws, the neutrality law and illegal alcohol diversion.

"No matter who is connected with Coster, no matter what position he occupies in the political or financial world, we are prepared to go through to the end," McMahon said, and added:

"In my opinion Coster's illicit liquor dealings is the biggest issue."

WALL STREET CONNECTION

"This man Coster had dealings with big names in the underworld, he got his start with illicit liquor during prohibition and there are indications that he had very good contacts in Wall Street."

The story of the arsenal was told in part by Joseph F. Ruggieri, assistant attorney general who investigated McKesson and Robbins branches in Canada, especially the warehouses.

He found the old arsenal situated in that part of Montreal known as East Dominion. The arsenal was known as "Petit Fort."

"Investigation showed," Ruggieri testified, "that it was built in 1916 for the United States government for the purpose of storing ammunition and war implements."

"It was owned by a man named J. Hurman, considered a citizen of good reputation of Montreal."

GETS TO OFFICIALS

"In 1931 Mr. Hurman rented it to Mr. McKesson and Robbins for a period of five years, the yearly rental amounting to $12,500."

"The warehouse has now occupied. It has not been occupied since McKesson & Robbins terminated their lease in 1934. At present it is untenable; its floors and windows are broken and it is under threat it has been condemned by the city."

"The possibility of large stock 'hoists' was revealed in Washington by William O. Douglas, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, after a conference here with James J. Cuffey, SEC Regional Administrator."

TRACE ACCOUNTS

Federal agents in Baltimore on a lay sought a writ to permit them to search Coster's East End home and dig on the grounds for money he may have hidden. The search also was directed for a "suicide note" reported left by the drug firm's president.

Coster Ruled By Fear, Blackmail

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)

A reliable source today said that not only blackmail but an acute fear for their lives motivated the Coster-Berish Muskin brothers in many of their unusual activities.

"They lived in mortal fear of their lives and were afraid of the people they were doing business with," the source said.

"The blackmail was a constant menace and the fear for their safety was partly connected with that."

Source said the Coster-Berish Muskin brothers were not only afraid of their lives but also of the people they were doing business with. WIDOW BESIDE COFFIN

His widow sat the night before and all night long at the head of the coffin. She was the only person who stayed with the body of her husband, a man who was a member of the Coster-Berish Muskin family.

With federal authorities and police fact, McKesson & Robbins knew of Coster's past and intended to buy him from the high price he was bringing in the market.

Coster Stock Given Officials

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (INS)—Information indicating that persons high in government and military circles were presented with sizable blocks of McKesson and Robbins Drug Company stock for "co-operating" in the schemes of F. Donald Coster is being investigated by agents of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

William O. Douglas, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, informed today the Federal News Service that the possibility that Coster might be given stock gifts to persons who could give him protection is an important phase of the Coster inquiry.

Douglas made this his first statement after returning to the city from New York, where he conferred with James J. Cuffey, regional administrator.

"During my conference with Cuffey I was told that Coster or some of those associated with him may have given away stock to influential people," Douglas said.

CHECK ON 'GETS'

"Our agents are making a thorough check on this information and it is one of the many leads they are running down. As far as I know at present, nothing definite has been uncovered to support this information and it may prove to be false."

Douglas conceded the task of tracing the history of McKesson & Robbins stock would be a gigantic one. According to the company's registration statement on file with the SEC, more than 1,000,000 shares of common stock is outstanding at the present time.

OFFICIALS IMPLICATED

While he was president of the drug firm, Coster at various periods owned considerable blocks of the company's securities. In 1933, he held as high as one-fifth of the outstanding common stock.

The commission, agents operating under the trading and exchange division, are making the inquiry into the ownership of the stock. Federal authorities also have implicated several other

Say G-Man Took Ganster Bribes

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—The New York Post says in a daily editorial that evidence has been secured that a federal grand jury has charged a federal grand jury with the payment of bribes to two gangsters while the government was prosecuting them.

The official grand jury was reported the paper says after a court government investigation.

The mobsters named were Harry E. McManus, a former Republican until he was indicted in the BLUMBERG scandal at Waterbury.

The paper says the grand jury asked for a list of the names of the gangsters who were paid bribes. The paper says the grand jury asked for a list of the names of the gangsters who were paid bribes.

before the warning klaxon was sounded.
The medicine had indeed turned me down, but the knowledge that I had been eating dynamite so savored me that I didn't enjoy my loss of weight.

I dined with the no-water-with-meal school of reducing and felt like a camel on a long safari. I experimented with bananas and milk and gave up when I realized
I was about to make a lifelong enemy of the banana.

I gave my attention to the theory that a certain food should be eaten with certain other foods. I was one day and found it was taking me months to try and accomplish a thing. I was in the trenches and came out with open dents.

during one that would really work this time.

THE WILL IS WEAK

Now the very hardest feature of any reducing regime is the controlling of the will power to meet its demands. The human will is at best a weak vessel, but the will of a fat person (would you rather have me be nice about it and say "absolutely" in, get on the work as much as you can. Listen in.

"Oh, I suppose ONE little tablespoon full of whipped cream won't make any difference."

"Well, I'm going to have some of those lovely mashed potatoes just this once, if I swing for it."

I really ought to walk, but my toes hurt me.

"I'm going to get out and play handball starting next week."

"Well, if a person can't enjoy food, what is there left?"

"I only intended to take the thinnest salad when I ordered that cake. I wanted to see how they made it."

The ice cream comes with the 75 cent dinner—I might as well have it have to pay for it anyhow.

DECIDES ON HOSPITAL

It is in other words, BEAT IT!

a better place, it is.

There ought to be places you could go and be looked up and have your food shoved at you through a small opening in the door. Then, when you got down to the right weight you could be let out."

That's why I want to have and to reduce or at least to be sure of my reducing regime.

The hospital doesn't exactly get out under lock and key, but the ladies interested in reducing want to see nothing. If the doctor prescribes a change of diet, you take therapy department to receive you of the burden of reducing your will.

Even when you are allowed to roam wherever you like when you are after the initial three-day period of physical examinations and tests you have no temptation to cheat. If you did, your chart would show you up, you'd earn the cost of the hospital staff and you'll have a fine time.

The very first thing you should do is to get a good night's sleep.
The very first thing you should do is to get a good night's sleep.

I found it a shame to have the will on the ground with a fine will power, and so I decided to try a different method.

By BETTY ALDEN

COLONEL WALTER MERHAM PRATT'S friends have learned to expect an agreeable surprise from him around Christmas time . . . His ability to choose interesting gifts is well known and every year his Christmas cards—whether containing an invitation to a novel party, or the season's greetings, are always individual and unique . . . But today those who opened envelopes which they expected to be his annual holiday greetings received the greatest surprise of all . . . for instead of his best wishes they found the announcement of his marriage to Mrs. John Thomas Wadsworth of San Francisco . . . The wedding took place Friday in Washington, D. C.

Thomson secretly sanctioned the couple's plans for the marriage and subsequent honeymoon trip to Rio on which he and his bride embarked Saturday on the New Amsterdam.

After April 1 they will be at home to their friends at the Ritz-Carlton.

The colonel who is listed at Who's who in America, is an executive in the paper business, an author of historic and genealogical articles, and a governor of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants . . . He is also a member of the Authors League of America . . . His first wife was the late Marietta Harkness Pratt of New York City . . .

WE HAVE JUST HEARD of plans for the season's most unique debutante affair . . . which will be the winter sports house party in honor of Pauline McKean the week-end of February 4 . . . Since Pauline is the sister of Marian McKean, one of the outstanding women skiers in this country, it is not surprising that so fervent an ad fast and a deer party . . . to the trees and fountains of a conventional debut party . . . Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul McKean of Beverly Farms, have already put out invitations to the house party which is to be held at Sugar Hill, N. H. in the midst of the White Mountain sking season.

Returns Home for Holiday Season

LOUISE MACMILLAN arrives home today from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she has a teaching and administrative job in a private school. . . . She is the daughter of Mrs. William T. MacMillan of Commonwealth avenue, and a Junior League and Vincent Club member, so her holidays will be filled with gay reunions to catch up with the doings of her many Boston friends. . . . She has been away since September and since she likes to do a bit of traveling and exploring she finds her new surroundings in the southwest very agreeable and interesting.

TONIGHT'S PERFORMANCE of The Messiah by the Handel and Haydn Society will serve two purposes . . . in enriching the coffers of the Faulkner Hospital and once again providing music lovers with the annual opportunity to hear Handel's magnificent Oratorio, appropriate musical fare of Christmas week.

KIT CARSON—Avenger! By EVELYN WELLS

Fearless Lad Invades Young, Savage West

CHAPTER ONE

The boy in the deep sunbaked doorway was small but strong. He snowed, with tawny hair that waved to his shoulders, a wide mouth that could be cruel as a trap and soft as a girl's, and eyes an incredibly honest blue.

It was Kit's eyes that caught and held one, so that any man looking once would exclaim as Freemont the Pathfinder did later:

"Kit Carson and truth are one!"

At 12, the boy who would become the "Greatest of Western Scouts" was too manly to show wishfulness. But blood throbbed in his heart as he watched the 40 buckskin-clad mountaineers preparing for a mysterious trail. They were lashing packs, testing saddles, etc., on the Plaza before the adobe house of Young Young in the gray flat-roofed pueblo of ancient Fernandez de Taos in New Mexico.

Captain Fising Young came toward the casa with a broad Mexican saddle slung over one brawny shoulder. He smiled, nodding the glance of the lad who for the winter past had been his cook.

"You'd like to go, kit?"

He was staring at the answer of the boy.

"I'm thinking on taking Carson."

The captain of the trappers looked at the boy's face. He was a little boy, but his eyes were old. He was a little boy, but his eyes were old.

Hays Silent On Nazi Film

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Hays office today refused to comment on reports that it had been asked to pass on the merits of a proposed film, "The Night of the Hunter," which is being produced by the Warner Bros. studio. The office said it had no information on the subject.

It would be unusual for the office to pass on a film, as it is the duty of the Motion Picture Production Code to do so. The office said it had no information on the subject.

Brother-in-Law Issue On State Race Board

HERE, KIDDIES, IS A PRETTY KETTLE of political haddock.

You recall, my chickadees, that last November 4 the sovereign citizens of Suffolk County endorsed parimutuel betting for another term of years. So Friday Gov. Charles F. Hurley reached up and gave his party's sugar tree a goshalmighty shake and down tumbled a lot of jobs. His Excellency was busting with Christmas spirit and so he picked out a luscious, lollipop job of the kind which makes every Hurley-helper's salivary glands drool and made Tom Foley, a downtown lawyer, a member of the State Race Commission.

Austen Lake

Tom's got it, kiddies! And by the purest coincidence, he is brother-in-law to Jim Connors, the affable and laugh-loving president of Suffolk Downs' horse track.

Yes, my little lamb, Brother Jim is top-man of the Commonwealth's last surviving horse sinner and, as such, will not refuse any little favor which the Race Board has within its jurisdiction to bestow. And Tom, his relative by marriage, is a member of that omnipotent body which has a pocketful of candy and the power to make desiring hearts happy.

But let my pets, does Daddy chuck a prudish tongue at two jovial gent's of immaculate character? Indeed, he does not.

Both Tom and Jim have been civic ornaments, above reproach. Their cheeks have never been touched by the warm tides of shame. Their brows were never mantled with dishonor. Their records are impeccable, my little chickadees, and both may doteval their race duties with the utmost sanctity—Tom never conceding Jim more than his just due, and Jim never impugning Tom a larger portion of fruit cake than his share.

Why, indeed, should a little accident like legal kinship deter either man from performing a full, conscientious measure of service—the one to his private enterprise, the other to the State which controls that enterprise?

Where the Rub Comes

STILL, KIDDIES, THERE IS ONE embarrassing problem with this affair, kiddies. It doesn't breed public confidence in the administration of a simple race which has the status of the State's last surviving horse sinner. I mean, my little chickadees, I mean that Tom Foley, brother-in-law to Jim Connors, and Jim Connors, brother-in-law to Tom Foley, are both members of the State Race Commission.

My little chickadees, I mean that Tom Foley, brother-in-law to Jim Connors, and Jim Connors, brother-in-law to Tom Foley, are both members of the State Race Commission. I mean that Tom Foley, brother-in-law to Jim Connors, and Jim Connors, brother-in-law to Tom Foley, are both members of the State Race Commission.

What's the rub, my little chickadees? Well, for example, as the time when Massed and his Suffolk oval came to a close, due to a technicality, the race was postponed. The track officials discovered that Massed had lost a legible to run in a field on the 12th. When had not won more than two years ago. That is, he had lost a legible to run in a field on the 12th.

What was the rub, my little chickadees, when they uncovered these facts? Well, Massed was disqualified and the official race-winning money was paid to the owner of Argon, which had out-gunned him.

Race Board Said "No!"

SO SUFFOLK SNATCHED BACK THE $1000 purse from Harry Nusselatter, Masked Gal's owner, and tossed it to H. P. Metcalf, owner of Argon. But there was no payoff to the people who had bought win-tickets on Argon, because there had already been one payoff, both in the race and the daily double, on Masked Gal. And since there was $21,701 involved in the race-pool and another $19,796 in the daily double, it was a matter of much importance to the track treasury.

Well, kiddies, the bettors appealed to the State Race Board, and were told not to expect the track to go down in its britches for another $41,000 and, unless the Argons could catch the Masked Gal backers and induce them to cough up their ill-gotten winnings, that was all the payoff there would be.

Now for the sake of the hypothesis, let's imagine that the 1936 race board with Jim Connors' wife's brother, or his sister's husband, whichever the case is, was called on to render such a verdict. And suppose the Board quoted the statute which says that the track mistakes are inherent perils of parimutuel wagering. The people would work up quite a lather—and call it a malignant case of collusion twist one in-law and another in-law and, maybe, decide to take their fun, money and rent money to the highway poolroom proprietors.

Wouldn't that be a painful matter to Suffolk Downs' bond holders, kiddies?

Or suppose, when the Commission comes to reconsider Suffolk Downs' holler for more racing dates, which, since Argon was lamed in the last election, it may feel entitled to. And suppose, out of the goodness of the Commission's heart, they allot, say, 75 or 90 days, instead of the current 57. Won't the anti-gambling faction in this state scream that some body in authority has favored some body else a bigger hunk of chump-buck? And won't Suffolk Downs suffer, at least, in prestige, and get called names other than darling.

So, kiddies, I think you will agree that his Excellency, on the eve of leaving the worries and cares of office, has put a great strain on the credulity of the public who helped elect him to that office. And wouldn't you suggest that, as upright characters with a true love of horse gambling in their hearts, either Jim Connors ought to resign from Suffolk or Tom Foley should do likewise on Beacon Hill, lest the enabled sport be pinched with embarrassment?

Fireworks Start Over Sheeketski

By HERB FINNEGAN

Will Joe Sheeketski coach Holy Cross next year? Holy Cross says YES. Iowa says NO.

Joe, backfield coach at Holy Cross under Eddie Anderson, says "I've signed a contract" to coach the Crusader eleven Saturday, according to Tom McCabe, H. C. Athletic Director. But Sheeketski, according to Professor Karl E. Lieb, Iowa athletic director, is under contract to the mid-western institution.

And Eddie Anderson says: "As far as I know Joe Sheeketski is under contract to Iowa."

It's all very confusing.

Tom McCabe says Sheeketski applied for the Holy Cross post only after he was under contract to Iowa, and that a student leader at the boys' M. P. St. James wanted Joe to take over the Holy Cross team. "What I want to know is what's next Joe?"

Friends of Anderson on the other hand say a contract has been signed with the Holy Cross team.

There may be fireworks before the holiday season. In fact, the fireworks may be the fireworks of the season.

JOE SHEEKETSKI

Iowa Claims Sheeketski

IOWA CITY, Dec. 15. (AP)—Professor Karl E. Lieb, athletic director of the University of Iowa Athletic, said today that he had announced that Joe Sheeketski had been named Holy Cross backfield coach.

"He is under contract to us and I personally have too much faith in Sheeketski to think that he will break his agreement with us."

"I feel quite confident that he will not break his obligation here."

Professor Lieb said his earlier statement that he had named Sheeketski as Holy Cross backfield coach to assist Dr. E. J. Anderson, new Iowa manager, would be left entirely in the hands, was made "before I had time to go into it."

However he continued there is nothing definite enough to the picture at the moment to induce me to leave a situation.

"As a matter of fact, I have practically assured Villanova officials that I would continue here, provided they carry out some of the publicity agreed upon."

MAURICE "CLIPPER" SMITH

'Cash Talks,' Says Clipper On B. C. Job

By WALTER KILEY

Maurice "Clipper" Smith, athletic director of the University of Iowa, said today that he had announced that Joe Sheeketski had been named Holy Cross backfield coach.

"He is under contract to us and I personally have too much faith in Sheeketski to think that he will break his agreement with us."

"I feel quite confident that he will not break his obligation here."

Professor Lieb said his earlier statement that he had named Sheeketski as Holy Cross backfield coach to assist Dr. E. J. Anderson, new Iowa manager, would be left entirely in the hands, was made "before I had time to go into it."

However he continued there is nothing definite enough to the picture at the moment to induce me to leave a situation.

"As a matter of fact, I have practically assured Villanova officials that I would continue here, provided they carry out some of the publicity agreed upon."

Fourth Annual Classic Set On Garden Ice

By WALTER KILEY

THEY'LL BE READY. The Alvarez sisters, who have been in a 1930 Boston American Sunday Advertiser Silver Skates classic, are now getting set for the coming affair, late next month at the Boston Garden. When Ludie was not available, these girls headed up for New Hampshire, where snow and ice has been plentiful. The sisters, from left to right, are Lorraine, Hazel and Virginia.

Buddy Knox Rival Western Heavy on of Lou Nova With McCoy Here

By JACK CONWAY

BUDDY KNOX, Irish-American heavyweight from Chicago, will get a crack at Lou Nova, latest ring sensation, if he is able to tip over Al McCoy with one of his terrific right-hand punches in their ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Wednesday night.

Knox like Nova is carrying the torch of Blazing Youth. He only recently celebrated his twenty-second birthday, and intends to punch his way to the championship.

On his record, Knox is a better biter than the six foot three inch Nova. Buddy has been crushing the opposition in the Middle West and in New York with driving right-hand wallops.

McCoy went to Chicago last summer to fight Knox. The New England heavyweight champion was of the opinion his ring experience would enable him to outbox Knox until he got the youngster set up for a knockout.

At the gong for the first round Knox came rushing from his corner, and belted McCoy on the chin with a right-hand blow. Al went down, and was fortunate to weather the session. It was a hard, blistering fight from that point with Knox winning the decision.

Knox has already given Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Club an option on his services for a bout with Lou Nova. A meeting between Knox and Nova would bring together two boxers who are the class of the new crop of "white hopes."

Nova or Knox may be the fortunate heavyweight who will eventually wrest the heavyweight championship from Joe Louis. The white heavyweight who conquers Louis will become a greater boxing attraction than Jack Dempsey or the immortal John L. Sullivan.

McCoy will complete training for Knox in New York this afternoon. Following his ring drill Al will entrain for Boston.

Mr. Boston

Pastor Ready for Shucco

BOB PASTOR showed those fans who saw him go through his Sunday workout at Buckley's Gym that he is physically fit for his tussle with Tony Shucco on the same card with Knox and McCoy.

Pastor, a fine boxer, fast and a stiff puncher, will strive to win inside of the limit. Pastor is also aiming for a title match with Louis. Bob has already gone ten rounds with the "Brown Bomber."

"When Pastor last fought Louis," said Jimmy Johnston, "I kept holding Bob back. I didn't want him to risk getting nailed by Joe. That bout convinced me that Pastor can beat the champion. When Pastor and Louis meet again, I shall instruct Bob to carry the fight to the title bout. I don't think Louis will look so well if crowded, and socked on the chin."

"When Pastor fought McCoy in Boston, he proved he has all the assets necessary to make a champion. All we have to do to enable Pastor to reach his objective is to get Louis to enter a ring with him."

THE GOODWIN CLUB has made a decided hit with the fans by offering its gala heavyweight program at popular prices of 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65 and $2.20. The success of the Hearst All-America bouts proved that the public will patronize high class boxing shows if they are offered at an attractive price scale.

With Knox against McCoy and Pastor battling Shucco on the same card, the Goodwin Club has made good its promise to offer the fans the tops in heavyweight boxing. A huge crowd is expected to be in the Garden when the first pair of preliminary boxers breeze into action.

The fact the Christmas Basket Fund will share in the receipts of the show is an added reason why one should attend it. You can witness the best in boxing while doing your part to feed the poor and unfortunate during the Christmas season.

DOC SUTHERLAND, football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, has discussed the Boston College football coaching job with athletic authorities at the Heights. Doc is anxious to get away from Pitt in view of the many charges made against the athletic system at that University. He does not wish people to believe that his success as a college football coach is due to the system Pitt has used to employ new talent.

Sutherland has also talked over his own football future with the managements of the Pittsburgh and Detroit professional clubs.

Doc Sutherland and B. C.

Doc has been placing a value of $15,000 a season on his services as a football coach, but it is said that is merely his asking price. The Pitt coach will give serious consideration to any legitimate offer whether it comes from Boston College or from one of the professional clubs.

GUS SONNENBERG's amazing comeback continues to grip public interest. The famous Dynamiter has been signed to battle Wee Willie Davis of Buffalo in the semifinal to the Yvon Robert-"The Shadow" wrestling bout at the Garden on Thursday night. Davis is a mere infant of some 290 pounds, and he should give Gus a real test.

Pastor 10-8 Choice To Defeat Shucco

NO TIME WASTED. Within a short while after he hit town, Bob Pastor headed right for a local gymnasium to start putting the finishing touches to his training. He meets Tony Shucco at the Garden Wednesday night and must hurdle this tough obstacle for another shot at the title. Bob claims he will be fit and ready.

By JACK CONWAY

Bob Pastor rules a 10 to 8 favorite to win from Tony Shucco at the Goodwin Club's heavyweight show at the Garden on Wednesday night as a result of the sensational form he displayed during a workout at Buckley's gym.

Pastor showed amazing speed and boxing ability and a rapid-fire punch. The young New York heavyweight looks as if he could step in and battle Shucco tonight if necessary.

Pastor did his preliminary training in New York, and came to Boston early so that he would be well rested for his tussle with Shucco. Bob declared that Jimmy Johnston, his manager, would check into town tomorrow, and would be in his corner Wednesday night when he starts tossing punches at Shucco.

While Pastor was brushing up his punch at Buckley's gym, Shucco was going through a strenuous boxing drill at Harry Kelley's gym. Shucco has added a few pounds of weight which will help his hitting, while he hasn't lost any of his speed.

KNOX HERE TODAY

Buddy Knox, sensational Chicago heavyweight, and Al McCoy, New England heavyweight champion, will arrive in town tonight. Knox and McCoy have been training in New York gyms where they have had the advantage of having plenty of top sparring partners.

Knox is shooting for a bout with Lou Nova, California heavyweight, and is anxious to win from McCoy by a knockout. Knox is one of the few Irish-American heavyweights, and can go a long way in boxing if he can keep winning. McCoy easily won from Bob Olin in his last tussle, and will try to get revenge for the setback Knox handed him in Detroit last summer.

Henry Chmielewski, Polish middleweight who recently won from Connie Welsh in Portland, will have Young Jack Dempsey of New Bedford as an opponent in a six-round bout.

George Salamond of East Boston will take on Martin Riley of East Boston in another six.

Fred Cabral will clash with Oscar Suggs of New Bedford in still another six, while a four-round bout will bring together Jerry Zulke of Chelsea and Sammy Tenorio of Quincy.

There has been a brisk demand for reservations at the Goodwin Club's downtown office at No. 293 Washington st. The popular price scale of 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65 and $2.20 has made a hit with the fans.

B's Batters Last But Set Record

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (INS)—Baseball's figure filberts should enjoy themselves with the official National League batting averages.

The nutty numbers disclose some strange facts. For instance, the Cubs were only fifth in hitting but they won the pennant. The Cardinals led the league with .2789, had most times at bat, 5528; scored most runs, 723; made most hits, 1542; most total bases, 2231; most two baggers, 288. And what did all that get them? Just a nice sixth place in the final standings of the clubs.

THOSE POOR PHILS

You will not be surprised to learn that the Phillies for the fourth straight year allowed the most runs, 840, or 5.6 runs per game. No wonder those birds are always in the cellar.

The Giants led the field in homers with 125; the Reds made most sacrifices, 89; and the Pirates were the prize banjo hitters, getting 1115 singles.

Ernie Lombardi, the Reds' big catcher, was the league's leading batter with 342, and Mel Ott of the Giants topped the field in homers with 36, bringing his lifetime total to 342, and making the seventh time he has hit more than 30 in a season.

MEDWICK AGAIN

If you're not a member of the Figure Filbert Club, you may safely skip all this, but if you are one of us, stick at it while we inform you that Johnny Medwick of the Cards was second with 337 and made most total bases, 325; made most triples, 16; and twice hit three homers in one game. Now you know why the Cubs and Giants are trying to buy the big slugger.

Frank McCormick, the Reds' bookie first baseman, who was third in the hitting with 326, was the only player in the league making more than 200 hits. Frank made exactly 209 of which 160 were singles, giving him the lead in that department.

Joe Medwick of the Cards led everybody for the third straight year in making doubles. He had 47. Stan Hack of the Cubs led in stolen bases with 18 and many of you will recall that Ty Cobb would sometimes steal that many in one week. It's a pleasure to note that at least one Philly, Del Young, led in something. Del was tops in sacrifices, with 18.

HONOR FOR BEES

Lloyd Waner of the Pirates hit in 22 consecutive games for the longest batting streak and the Pirates won 13 in a row for the longest win streak. And, of course, the Phils had the longest losing string, dropping nine in a row.

Although the Bees were last in hitting, they managed to tie a couple of slugging records. Tony Cuccinello, Max West and Elbert Fletcher hit successive homers in one game and the remarkable part of the feat is that they did it against the illustrious Carl Hubbell of the Giants.

In another game, Gene Moore and Earl CQ Magner of the Bees each hit a homer with the bases filled in a game with the Phils. Dick Bartell and Gus Mancuso of the Giants (both recently traded to the Cubs) also turned this trick against the Dodgers.

Dit Clapper on Spot

By BILL GRIMES

Half way through third period of the Bruins-Red Wings game last night in Detroit, "Dit" Clapper, by beating Tiny Thompson, his best friend and former "roomie" when they were teammates, proved conclusively that from the standpoint of the players, professional hockey is strictly on the level.

For 31 minutes and 16 seconds the Roumen and the Wings battled without either scoring. Then, with Bobby Bauer, Clapper broke out of his zone and tore down the ice. At the Detroit defense, Dit received the puck from Bauer and went in on Tiny, held his shot until his ex-roomie committed himself and then fired to score the deciding goal.

When Tiny Thompson was sold to the Detroit Red Wings, "Dit" Clapper stood right up and spoke his little piece. He protested against the actions of the owners, calling a spade a spade. He knew every detail of Thompson's differences with the Bruins. Naturally, he was pro-Thompson, but unlike most players, he expressed his opinion publicly. And, moreover, Clapper came out flat-footed and demanded that HE be traded, for under the circumstances, he no longer would be of any value to the Bruins.

But, when he skated out on the ice at the Olympic last night, Tiny Thompson was just another goal tender to "Dit" Clapper. Under far less trying circumstances, goals have been missed even as close in as Clapper was when he beat Tiny for the tally that gave the Bruins a win over the Red Wings.

FRANK BRIMSEK

"Dit" Clapper survived a test which would have given hockey a black eye had he failed to come through. Knowing Clapper and Thompson as well as I do, I am certain that "Dit" felt worse over scoring that goal than Tiny did to be beaten.

With a minute to play, Manager Jack Adams took Tiny off the ice last night and sent on six forwards hoping to tie up the game and the Kitchener line broke away. Herbie Schmidt scoring the final goal which gave the Bruins a 2 to 0 victory.

"Dit" Clapper's feat stole some of the spot light from Frankie Brimsek who turned in his fifth shut out in his last six starts.

After Brimsek had blanked the Black Hawks in both ends of a home and home series and then shut out Rangers in New York, Les Canadiens beat him for two goals last Tuesday night at the Garden. But, on Thursday in Montreal Brimsek held the Flying Frenchmen scoreless and then duplicated that feat last night in Detroit.

So, after holding his opponents scoreless for 231 minutes and 34 seconds before he was beaten by Les Canadiens, Brimsek has now started out on another shut out spree, for he has not allowed a goal for 135 minutes and 15 seconds.

Frankie Brimsek's sensational goal tending will attract a capacity gathering to the Boston Garden tomorrow night when the Bruins meet the New York Americans, which is one of the two teams that has defeated them this season.

Stratton Plans To Pitch Again

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (INS)—Monty Stratton's statement he could return to the big leagues as a pitcher despite amputation of his right leg was seconded today by Joseph Berodin, president of a Chicago artificial limb manufacturing company.

Sports Mirror

By the Associated Press

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Mel Ott's lifetime total of 306 homers set new National League record as revealed by National League batting averages.

THREE YEARS AGO—Capacity crowd of 17,462, record for basketball, as N. Y. U. beat California quintet, 41-26, in Madison Square Garden.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Helen Jacobs, woman tennis ace, named outstanding woman athlete in A. P. poll.

CHOCOLATE DRAW

HAVANA, Dec. 19—Nicky Joe, home New York, battled Kid Chocolate to a draw.

There is no possibility of Monty getting back into action, however, before 1940, Berodin contends.

The lucky ace of the White Sox mound corps is now in Dallas, Tex. hospital, recovering from the amputation which followed a hunting accident. Last week Stratton declared he would pitch again.

Although Berodin believes Stratton has a 50-50 chance to return as a pitcher there is one hitch—Monty never will be fast enough again to run big league bases, Berodin explained.

"I understand Stratton's right leg was amputated at the knee," Berodin said. "If this is true, he will have perfect control over an artificial leg. He is a right handed pitcher and uses his right leg merely as a pivot. The left leg is the important one to a right handed pitcher."

With an artificial leg properly aligned and fitted, Stratton will be able to pitch as well as ever, field hits, and hit too, Berodin said, but he won't be able to run the bases.

Bill Delaney pulled out for New York a couple of weeks ago, George Steele has his worldly goods packed to dash for "St. Pete" just as soon as the next cold snap hits here, Dan O'Brien is on a "B & H" diet conditioning himself for a tough season at Miami.

Tom Spry will start for the Southland, as soon as he is able to convince the various colleges, which are seeking his services as football coach, that he has definitely retired as a gridiron mentor. . . They'll close the clubrooms if Barney Roth gets the urge to migrate to the land of the Gators. . . "Izzy" Buxbaum, who invented the "spin" in football when he was playing for E. H. S. in the Gay 90's is planning to tour the world with the Mrs. . . Incidentally, the Buxbaum brothers, Jack, Maurice, Izzy, Harry and Willie, who are products of old Ward 12, all were expert tumblers and outstanding hand ball players at the Y. M. C. U. . . Hughie Mulcahy, the "ace" of the Phillies' pitching staff, predicts that Jack McLaughlin, who is on one of Johnny Quinn's pay rolls, will be up in the big league within two years. . . Those Market St. boys have always stuck together. . . Watch those Bees, boys, they'll cost you plenty of dough if you sell them short.

Pros to Start Golf Junket

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—There's close to $100,000 still in the bag for winter circuit professional golfers, but they'll have to travel fast to make a grab for a share.

Freddie Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament bureau manager, stated that a $3000 open tournament has been added at Houston, Texas, which will break the long jump from Miami to Los Angeles, where the next event is scheduled. The latter event will be worth from $4000 to $5000, depending on the size of the galleries.

Quinn, Mack, Griffith Smartest in Baseball

By BILL GRIMES

Whenever they go into the open market to buy, sell or trade players, the synthetic baseball magnates, due to their inexperience, are put in the hands of Bob Quinn, Connie Mack and Clarke Griffith.

Quinn, Mack and Griffith have devoted their lives to baseball. They all started as players, gradually advanced in their chosen profession until they became executives. They are the only survivors of the old school. They have a thorough knowledge of all angles of the game and know all of the answers from handling players to the smallest detail of the front office routine.

In all probability, the Three Musketeers are the best judges of baseball talent in the game, and although they have the utmost confidence in their scouts, they've all made it a practice to take a "look-see" at all players bearing large price tags.

With such backgrounds, Bob Quinn, Connie Mack and Clark Griffith have a decided edge over the magnates, who entered baseball for the financial benefits or for the purpose of advertising some product they market.

MADE MANY CHANGES

During the three years that Bob Quinn has been at the helm of the Bees many ball players have gone over the dam. In fact, when the Bees report to Manager Casey Stengel at Br-denton late in February, Al Lopez, Tony Cucinello and Danny MacFadden will be the only players who have survived three seasons under Bob Quinn.

At the time that Bob Quinn was inducted into the presidency, the Bees owned 20 players. Today, enrolled on their Boston, Hartford, Evansville and Erie rosters, the Bees own close to 100 players and they have about half that number on loan to clubs, with which they have working agreements. Outside of the older members of the Boston club the Bees have only youngsters, whose ages range from 17 to 22, on their pay rolls.

Where are the Babishes, Benges, Bergers, Blanches, Browns, Can't-wells, Chaplins, Coscorarts, Ellands, Jordans, Lees, Lewises, McCloskeys, Moriarts, Osbornes, Thompsons, Urbanskis, Veaches and Whitneys of 1936?

They were replaced by Jim Turner, Lou Fette, Guy Bush, Johnny Lanning, Ira Hutchinson, Bobby Reis, Bill Harris, Bill Perrin, Art Loren, Eddie Mayo, Hal Warfield, Vince Di Maggio, Debs Garms, Frank McGowan and Andy Pilney. A year ago, Bill Urbanski, Guy

CONNIE MACK

Bush, Wally Berger, Buck Jordan, Bill Harris, Bill Perrin, Bobby Smith, Frank McGowan and Andy Pilney, Vic Fraser and Jim Southern bowed out of the Bees' picture to make room for Dick Erickson, Frank Gabriel, John Niggeling, Milt Shoffner, Billy Weir, Gilly English, Bob Kahle, Earl Maggart, Elbie Fletcher, Eddie Mayo, Roy Johnson and Max West.

During the 1938 season, the Bees disposed of Mike Bales, Frank Gabriel, Johnny Niggeling, Billy Weir, Johnny Riddle, Gilly English, Eddie Mayo, and Roy Johnson and within the past fortnight they have severed connections from Gene Moore, Ray Mueller, Ira Hutchinson, Bobby Reis and Joe Stripp.

Since the close of the season, Bob Quinn has made the Bees a contender for the National League pennant. He started his strengthening process by trading little Gene Moore and Ira Hutchinson to the Dodgers for Buddy Hassett and Jimmy Outlaw. And that was a real start.

Although Moore has as much natural ability as any player in either major league, the Texan's mental reflexes are so far below par that he'll never come into his own and despite the fact that Hutchinson is a good relief pitcher—he should be a starting hurler with his speed and curve ball—the Bees could well afford to hand them to Brooklyn without the slight fear that they had weakened the club.

And, then, Bob Quinn completed a deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates, which he believes is the "tops" of his career, to wit, Ray Mueller for Al Todd and Johnny Dickshot and cash.

GETS BATTING POWER

Through the acquisition of Hassett, Outlaw, Dickshot and Todd, the Bees have added materially to their offensive strength and the club has acquired some much-needed speed.

Casey Stengel has never pulled his punches and therefore it was not surprising to learn that he admitted to Bob Quinn that the 1938 Bees would be the best ball club that he had ever handled, "Ole Case," and the same is true of Bob Quinn, is not predicting that the Bees will win the pennant, but you can lay it on the line that he'll give the other contenders plenty of trouble next season.

Bear in mind that during the 1938 season, the Bees bought Eddie Miller, the Kansas City short stop, who is rated as a second Glenn Wright from Kansas City; Henry Majecki, a second sacker that Rudy Hulewit placed his stamp of approval on from Birmingham, John Hill, a third sacker from Atlanta; Joe Sullivan, from Toronto; John Pezullo, from Savannah; signed Carvel Hewitt, who had been made a free agent and recalled Tom Early, Art Doh, Al Moran, Stan Andrews and Chel Ross from Hartford; Art Hazel, a southpaw pitcher; Otto Huber, a second baseman and Ralph McGowan, an outfielder whom Bob McGowan believes has a chance of staying up from Evansville.

Before the Bees start for Br-denton, Bob Quinn hopes to complete one or two more trades.

It's a fact—no sooner do the bright-and-shiny new models come into the market than a crop of excellent used-car values start coming in, too. People who can't resist buying the very newest models are the people who often bring in last year's (or the year before's) models in almost good-as-new condition. If you're looking for the tops in used-car value, their good luck is yours. It's the time—and the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Automobile for Sale Columns is the place to find these values.

Jail for dieters is advocated by Carol Frink, writer who "fell for" the Hollywood diet of "18 days fasting." "There ought to be places you could go," she says, "and be locked up and have your food shoved through a small opening in the door. Then, when you got down to right weight, you could be let out."
